

International Visegrad Fund: official website

grant programs, mobility programs, artist residencies

International Visegrad Prize

International Visegrad Prize

The International Visegrad Prize—also known as the “Visegrad Cultural Prize”—is awarded on an annual basis in appreciation of support rendered to and the development of cultural cooperation of the Visegrad Group countries.

The prize was recommended by the Visegrad Group prime ministers at their summit in Esztergom on 29 June 2002 and formally established at the meeting of the Visegrad Group culture ministers in Sárospatak on 11 November 2004 (see the Communiqué). Awarded since 2005 by the Visegrad Group ministries responsible for culture the prize is financial in the worth of €20,000.

International Visegrad Prize Laureates (2005–2009):

2009—Slovakia

Mr. Vladimír Godár (nominee)

The prize will be awarded at the 21st meeting of V4 culture ministers in 2011.

More information: Communiqué

2008—Hungary

Mr. György Spiró

The prize was awarded in Warsaw in May 2009.

More information: Communiqué [ .pdf, 109 KB]

2007—Czech Republic

International Festival Theatre Pilsen (Mezinárodní festival Divadlo Plzeň)

The prize was awarded in Olomouc in June 2008.

More information: Communiqué/Press Release

2006—Poland

International Cultural Centre, Cracow \(Międzynarodowe Centrum Kultury, Kraków\)

The prize was awarded in Budapest in January 2007.

More information: Communiqué

2005—Slovakia

Mr. László Szigeti (Kalligram publishing)

The prize was awarded in Banská Bystrica in April 2005.

More information: Communiqué